Launch of 'Laguna Village 2.0' in Estepona

'Laguna Village 2.0' was officially launched last Friday as the mayor of Estepona, José María García Urbano, laid the first stone of the future tourism and commercial complex.

GAT Inversiones and Grupo Pacha acquired the Laguna Village shopping centre at the end of last year from the Swiss-German group Sauer, with the aim of converting it into one of the largest tourist complexes in southern Spain. With a development area of 13,000 square metres and a beach of 1,200 square metres, Laguna Village is located in one of the most privileged locations in southern Europe, with connections to all the main towns on the Costa del Sol.

The new tourism and commercial complex aims to generate over 1,000 direct and indirect jobs that will promote inclusion and diversity.

The project will place sustainability at the forefront with an innovative architectural proposal that respects the environment, takes into account energy efficiency and seeks to blend in with the surroundings through the use of natural wood and stone.

Laguna Village is set to become a symbol of quality in Estepona and a benchmark for tourism and commercial developments in Europe.

It also adds extra excitement and value to one of our newest projects, AYANA, a boutique residential development of spacious 2, 3 and 4 bedroom residences and penthouses which is within walking distance.
